

International-mindedness is central to the IB mission and is a foundational principle to its educational philosophy; it is at the heart of the continuum of international education.

International-mindedness is a view of the world in which people see themselves connected to the global community and assume a sense of responsibility towards its members. It is an awareness of the interrelatedness of all nations and peoples, and is a recognition of the complexity of these. Internationally minded people appreciate and value the diversity of peoples, cultures and societies in the world.

Wildcat PYP Newsletter

Ways You Could Support Your Child as a PYP Parent

As an essential member of helping them take their learning deeper. There are 5 simple ways you can support your schooling, or the incidental, unplanned learning through play, exploration, and life experience; these 5 strategies will help you, help your child become a lifelong learner. November and December focused on . Here is strategy three for the month of January:

Prioritize Reflection

- a. Get Them Thinking About Their Thinking
 - i. How do you know?
 - ii. What makes you think that?
 - iii. Is there another way that you could do that?
 - iv. What did you find easy or challenging? Why?