

When was the Primary Years Programme (PYP) introduced? The International Baccalaureate® (IB) PYP was introduced in 1997.

The PYP was developed through the vision and effort, sustained over ten years, of the former International Schools Curriculum Project (ISCP).

The goal was to produce a common curriculum framework, for students in the 3-12 age range, which would provide continuity of learning within each school and support the development of international-mindedness on the part of learners.

The PYP followed the introduction of the Middle Years Programme (MYP) and the Diploma Programme (DP)—established
